TOXIC PLAYGROUNDS...

Looking out of her office window, head teacher Claire Fletcher of St Paul's, Hammersmith was confronted by the most depressing of views - a featureless tarmac playground framed by a concrete flyover.

'I always felt really sad for the pupils, like many inner-city children they live in the middle of a concrete jungle and that was their outlook, not only at home but at their school as well.' said Ms Fletcher.

By December 2019, St Paul's playground had been replaced with green. They now have 17 semimature trees, ivy cladding, and lots of shrubs, bushes, herbs and flowers. They have even had the odd tomato plant when a child has thrown a seed in a bed from their packed lunch which has taken root.

'It has become a really beautiful green space that the children enjoy. While the work was going on to transform it, one of the pupils said to me, 'I just can't wait to get in there and read a book under a tree.' It's great for them to think that this is somewhere to do ordinary things in an extraordinary place.'

But, what is all the more extraordinary, is that this transformation is not just skin deep. As well as looking greener, the woodland playground, which was only opened in the summer, has already played a crucial role in safeguarding the pupils from potential harm.

In 2017, air quality measurements taken across London identified St Paul's as being the second most polluted school in the capital. It sits next to the Hammersmith Flyover, with pupils exposed to high levels of fumes from 100,000 passing vehicles every day. And, shockingly, it is far from the only school affected. 'The initial impact is that the air feels cleaner and we have data that shows the pollution levels have decreased since we started monitoring,' says Ms Fletcher, adding that in some areas pollution levels have fallen by a quarter or more.

'We had an enormous, grey playground and now we have a fantastic green space. In terms of children's mental health and their enjoyment of the space, it is like being in the country when you go into our woodland.'

The need to plant more trees in towns and cities has never been greater, as highlighted by the Daily Mail "Be A Tree Angel" Christmas appeal, which aims to encourage the planting of tens of thousands of trees across the country.

PLOG-OLUTION...

On Friday 24th January 2020, Beavers Community, Hounslow started their first Beavers Plogging Club and the children collected: 32 plastic bottles, 27 cans, 11 glass bottles and 177 cigarette butts from the surrounding school pavements and bus stop.

STRENGTHEN LINKS...

On Wednesday 8th January 2020, The Bishop London, Sarah Mullally joined students and staff at John Keble, Harlesden along with representatives of local churches and community groups, to celebrate the opening of a new school hall.

Named Keble Hall, the new facility has opened following six months of renovations on a previously derelict building in the school's playground. After receiving planning permission to redevelop the old building, the school fitted a new roof and interior to prepare it for use by the pupils and local community. Offering a versatile space, the new hall will be used for sports classes and whole-school collective worship, as well as a huge range of extra-curricular activities such as drama productions. It will also host the John Keble's weekly mass service, which takes place on Wednesdays, allowing the school to open up the service to members of its local community. Headteacher, Catherine Allard said: "We're very fortunate at John Keble to enjoy a close relationship with our local parish churches and community, who play an invaluable role in our students' development. Keble Hall will provide a great new space for students to continue developing these important relationships in a fun environment as they learn to be good neighbours and members of our local community. It will be fantastic to see students and residents of all generations joining together each week with prayer and music. We're immensely grateful for the support of our local churches, All Souls Harlesden and St Matthew's, Willesden, and delighted that Keble Hall will help to strengthen our connection for years to come."

150 YEARS...

NEW BUILD...

Twyford Academies Trust, Ealing were delighted to welcome The Bishop of Willesden, Pete Broadbent, on 17th July 2019. Bishop Pete started the day at William Perkin where he toured 'The Annexe' – the new temporary block on the site to accommodate the extra students from Ada Lovelace from September 2019 when the main school will be full.

He also saw the ongoing works for the café extension which will be a legacy for William Perkin once Ada Lovelace moves into its permanent school buildings this summer (2020). Bishop Pete led a service of blessing for the structure of the permanent school buildings on the Park View site, which students, staff, members of the local governing body, Directors of the Trust and local community representatives and building contractors Kier Construction attended. A steel beam was inscribed with John 10:10 and signed by Bishop Pete, students and members of the project teams. It has since been hoisted into position on the upper level of the main teaching block.

Bishop Pete then moved to Northfields where he led a service for Ealing Fields on the Place House permanent site to bless the foundations for the new buildings. Members of the school council, local governing body, staff and Ealing Fields Residents' Association were in attendance. Students symbolically cast items including a scroll of foundation verses, school houses and the names of the founding year group into the base of the final part of the concrete pad on which the main teaching block will stand. Both major projects are on programme for a summer 2020 finish.

INSPIRING SCHOOL PROJECT...

Following a successful funding bid at St Sir John Cass Red Coat, Stepney students began work in January 2020 on an Erasmus+ project which is bringing together young people across a range of countries in Europe. (A programme for education, training, youth and sport, Erasmus+ provides funding for collaboration between schools to promote innovation, entrepreneurship and employability.)

The work at Sir John Cass Red Coat is in partnership with schools in Italy, Greece and Spain and is focusing on students' knowledge of their locality and identifying common areas of experience. One example of the project work has been a focus on how a painting by Pablo Picasso has highlighted the effect of war both on the east end of London and on the town of the partner school in Guernica, Spain. The painting which portrays the bombing of the Spanish town by the German air force during the Spanish Civil War was brought to the Whitechapel Art Gallery in the East End of London in 1939. Just a couple of years later, a similar fate to that of Guernica was to hit London during the Blitz. This and other examples draw the students together, learning about their shared heritage and history. Project co-ordinator Shuhel Malique said: "We are delighted at how the project is taking shape and the positive impact it is having in our school. Over 30 students will benefit from the project and the opportunities it will provide and we look forward to our visit to Guernica in March 2020."

St John's, Whetstone achieved many accolades and recognition for their team spirit and commitment to the value of sports at a special awards ceremony at the Arts Depot, North Finchley on Wednesday 25th September 2019.

One of the highlights of the evening was that a large group of the 2018-2019 Y6 football team alumni attended, along with parents, staff and Headteacher, Curtis Sweetingham.

The football team started the year losing their first cup match, however, the team did not give up and with their effort, determination and inspirational spirit they managed to win all their league games. Their team work stood out as they always cooperated well with each other and used the different players' strengths to win the games. They always showed a huge amount of respect to one another, the referee and to other teams by shaking hands at the end of each game and if it wasn't for their team values and growth mindset, they wouldn't have been as successful.

John Keble, Harlesden school choir came third out of thirty-three choirs in Brent Music Service's competition and won a platinum award. The choir sang three songs including one written by their music teacher, Mrs Goddard, about Joy. There were forty-one children in the KS2 choir and the judges commented on how the choir sang with real joy and passion.

The determination and talents of one young man at St Mary's, Stoke Newington were witnessed first-hand mid July 2019 by the Headteacher, Jane O'Brien when she went to see him on stage. Ethan Marsh, in Y5, took on the role of Fletcher in the tour of The Bodyguard musical earlier in the year and has been touring across the UK starring alongside Alexandra Burke. Ethan demonstrated his considerable talents in singing, dancing and acting. Jane described his performance as, 'overwhelming' and having 'great authenticity' which brought a tear to her eye.

HOPE PARTNERSHIP...

Seven Barnet church schools worked in partnership for two years under the banner of the Hope Partnership. Their aim was to creatively raise Christian awareness and standards in their schools. The Bishop of Edmonton, Rob Wickham spoke at the service which was led by Rector Thomas Rentz at St Mary's Church, Monken Hadley on 11th June 2019. It was the first time that all the schools were able to come together and share an act of worship. Bishop Rob spoke of hope; the core value held by the seven schools. The anchor was their collective logo and, naturally, Bishop Rob started the talk as Pirate Rob who took from others, then discovered Christ and rather than taking, he gave back.

Book Corner

Reception Class at St Clement Danes, Drury Lane welcomed the school's Chair of Governors, Mr Bentham, on 16th October 2019. He told them about his work as a barrister and he read the class a great story about a Giant Jam Sandwich.

Sir John Cass & Red Coat, Stepney received a massive boost to their reading adventures in the form of £1000 worth of books for fun from children's literacy charity, Read for Good in February 2020.

Literacy Lead Teacher, Mr Paige, applied for the charity's new 'Brilliant Box of Books' scheme containing some 150 titles aimed at children in Y5 to Y8, ranging from graphic novels to the latest series' and firm favourites. Read for Good has motivated millions of children since 1984 to read for fun through its sponsored read in schools and given £1 million worth of book vouchers to schools in partnership with Scholastic Book Clubs since 2010. Their new pilot programme to further boost reading for pleasure book selection in schools has awarded book boxes to 30 schools in need across the country.

Read for Good's chief executive, Justine Daniels said: "Our charity's mission is to support children to love reading. Our experience of running our much-loved Readathon in schools for the last 35 years is that children read more when they read what they love. Children who read for fun are more likely to flourish academically, emotionally and career-wise in today's information-rich world. We worry that without ready access to the books and stories that will set imaginations alight and fire-up this lifelong love, then this generation will miss out on so much."

The new programme is partly funded by schools across the country who've run the Readathon and includes a year's membership of the School Library Association.

Chief executive, Alison Tarrant said: "Membership of the SLA will allow schools to increase the impact of the books by giving them activities, lesson plans and more ways to get free books as part of their membership. This will mean that the joy and impact of a pupil enjoying a book can be supercharged to create a genuine reading culture."

DEAR GOD...

Actual prayers of children!

- ✝ Forgive us our 'trash baskets' as we forgive those who put trash in our baskets
- ✝ I heard the moon was made of cheese. Tonight half of it is missing. Did you get hungry?
- ✝ Our Father which aren't in heaven, halloween be thy name...
- ✝ Mommy says all babies cry, but I dont think baby Jesus did. You must know the answer, so please write back. We have a bet.
- ✝ A little boy opened the big and old family Bible with fascination, he looked at the old pages as he turned them. Then something fell out of the Bible and he picked it up and looked at it closely. It was an old leaf from a tree that has been pressed in between pages. "Momma, look what I found," the boy called out. "What have you got there, dear?" his mother asked. With astonishment in the young boy's voice he answered: "It's Adam's suit!"
